Assuring stakeholders

External assessments and independent third-party certifications give our stakeholders confidence that our reported performance indicators are reliable, accurate and pertinent.

Forest certification

Forest certification assures consumers that products derived from forests and plantations come from well managed forests and plantations that provide environmental, social and economic benefits. We have achieved certification by the three most internationally recognised forest products certification programmes. We do not endorse one certification as 'better' than another. Rather, our goal is to use as much independently certified wood as possible.
